DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 28, 38, and 48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In these claims, the open helical structure is said to be inserted into bone, which is unpatentable subject matter claimed as a structural part of the invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
 2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
 3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
 4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.
4. Claims 19-27, 29-37, 39-47, and 49-53 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DeCaro (4,762,453). DeCaro discloses the invention substantially as claimed. DeCaro discloses, in the figures and in col. 2, line 66 to col. 3, line 38, a tissue anchor and a method of making the anchor, where the anchor comprises a rigid elongate member (10) having an open helical structure, a first end having an insertion tip (31), and a second end having a modular attachment head (12); where the elongate member comprises spring steel, where the modular head includes a hexagonal recess (16), where the elongate member includes a seat (3) that is ring that is less than a complete circle (i.e., a partial helix gripping the modular head) and a complete circle (i.e., a complete helix also gripping the modular head), where the ring has the same outer diameter as the open helical structure, and where the modular head includes an opening (19, in fig. 9). However, DeCaro does not disclose as claimed the dimensions of the open, helical structure. Nevertheless, DeCaro discloses that the structure can be made in "a number of configurations" (see col. 1, lines 58 and 59). Thus, it would have been a matter of design choice to dimension the structure as claimed. The dimensions can be chosen according to the intended use of the anchor. Also, DeCaro does not disclose that the spring steel material of the helical structure is surgical grade or stainless. Nevertheless, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to apply surgical grade or stainless steel to the anchor of DeCaro. Such a steel not only possesses mechanical strength, it is corrosion-resistant and hence, biocompatible.

Response to Amendment

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-53 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
